

ECHO Idaho Participant Agreement

I recognize the following recommendations as best practices in support of a positive online learning environment and professional learning community:

ECHO Idaho Participant Best Practices

- 1. Participate in ECHO sessions with my camera turned on, to the greatest extent possible.*
- 2. Engage in case presentations by asking clarifying questions when appropriate.*
- 3. Complete session surveys to support program evaluation and improvement.*
- 4. Share new information and learnings from ECHO sessions with colleagues.*
- 5. Protect health and patient information by maintaining anonymity and confidentiality.*
- 6. Maintain professional communication and decorum.*

I understand all ECHO sessions are recorded and posted online for asynchronous review. By participating in sessions, I consent to appear on published recordings, if applicable.

I understand ECHO case presentations are an opportunity for me, as a participant, to receive informal consultations. Any feedback or recommendations provided by ECHO panelists or other ECHO participants do not create or otherwise establish a provider-patient relationship between any clinician and the patient whose case is being presented. I will retain full responsibility for my patient's care when accepting or rejecting advice given during ECHO case presentations.

I understand that data reflecting my participation in ECHO Idaho sessions will be shared with outside entities only as required by ECHO Idaho's continuing medical education accreditation requirements and authorization as a Project ECHO replication site.

Upon enrolling in ECHO Idaho sessions, I understand that I will automatically receive weekly ECHO Idaho email announcements, but I can unsubscribe at any time.

ECHO Idaho reserves the right to remove me as a participant from a session at any time and at their sole discretion.

If you have questions or concerns about this Participant Agreement, please contact ECHO Idaho, echoidaho@uidaho.edu or call, (208) 364-4072.
